Summary

With regards to the original version of this model that I remixed this from, I am not sure if this is a problem with the infill that I used (20% infill) or the way I screwed it into the wall, but I noticed that on that model, the weight of the Amazon Echo brings down the shelf portion slightly, which obscures the clock for me with my Echo Dot. You can push the ring down slightly on that one, but the bottom portion of maintain the same size as bak3rboy's model.
